

VINYL APPLICATION TIPS

Think of your vinyl lettering sheet in 3D ...

Your vinyl arrives as a pre-spaced sheet of letters made up of three layers ... (1) the top layer - or transfer tape (through which you can see the letters) (2) the middle layer - which are the letters themselves and (3) the bottom layer - or white/blue shiny backing paper.

(If your order has been shipped, gently press the vinyl sheet flat before proceeding with instructions.)

POSITION YOUR LETTERS

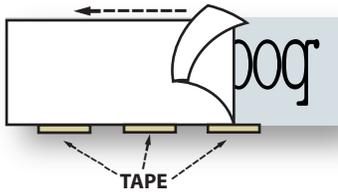

#1

Position your vinyl sheet on the wall, centering the letters, and securing it with masking or painting tape. (The tape acts as a hinge for the project.) You can see the lettering through its semi-transparent top layer.

REMOVE THE BACKING

#2

Flip the lettering sheet upward and slowly peel off the bottom layer. Let the lettering rest on the semi-transparent top layer. (If the lettering wants to stick to the backing, slowly manipulate the backing to help the letters stick to the top layer.)

RUB THE LETTERS ONTO WALL

#3

Use some kind of hard but gentle edge like a large tongue depressor, wide popsicle stick, or plastic scraper, and firmly rub over the semi-transparent top layer to secure the lettering to your wall. Work from the center out on both sides letting the edger act as a squeegee over the lettering.

PEEL OFF THE TRANSFER TAPE

#4

Then, carefully peel off the sticky top layer to reveal your letters.

YOU'RE DONE!

#5

REMOVAL: When it comes time to remove your vinyl letters, remember that the heat of a blow dryer will soften the vinyl and make it easier to peel off.
